Invaluable Intelligence and Data to Support Any Automotive Business in China

The only way you can stay ahead of the crowd and be the person of the moment is to have the best information available when you need it the most. FOURIN is beginning a new service offering a detailed and user-friendly database on major automakers and parts manufacturers in China. Data are provided to you in Excel format, allowing rapid searching, sorting and transfer. Based on years of close cooperation with trusted customers, the database is tailored to the needs of automotive industry professionals who are in need of detailed facts on major players in the Chinese automotive industry. Rather than wading through endless number of press releases and media reports, you choose the data that is important to you and see it in a well-organized table immediately. The database currently includes approximately 1,500 production bases and other facilities of around 200 Chinese and foreign automakers and parts suppliers.
